Armenian Deputy Foreign Minister Meets with Iranian Officials, Discusses Washington Declaration

On August 12-13, Deputy Foreign Minister of Armenia Vahan Kostanyan visited the Islamic Republic of Iran, where he held meetings with Iranian Foreign Minister Seved Abbas Araghchi, Deputy Foreign Minister for Political Affairs Maiid Takht Ravanchi. Advisor to the Supreme Leader and Chairman of the Strategic Council on Foreign Relations Kamal Kharazi, Advisor on International Affairs Ali Akbar Velayati, and the Iranian President's Advisor for Political Affairs Mehdi Sanaei. the Armenian Ministry Foreign Affairs reported.

According to the statement, during the meetings Vahan Kostanyan emphasized Armenia's appreciation for Iran's consistent and public position on the need to unconditionally respect the territorial integrity, sovereignty, and inviolability of Armenia's borders. He reaffirmed that Armenia, in turn, takes into account Iran's vital interests.

The Deputy Foreign Minister expressed high regard for Iran's congratulations and support regarding the initialing of the Agreement on the Establishment of Peace and Interstate Relations between the Republic of Armenia and the Republic of Azerbaijan, as well as the recent progress aimed at normalizing relations between the two countries and establishing peace in the region.

Referring to the joint declaration signed Washington on August 8 by the leaders of Armenia, Azerbaijan, and the United States, Kostanyan stressed the that process unblocking the region's economic infrastructure will take place within framework of full respect for the principles of territorial integrity, sovereignty, jurisdiction, and reciprocity the countries. accordance with the letter spirit aforementioned declaration.

In a constructive atmosphere, the sides exchanged views on the positions of Armenia and Iran regarding the process and agreed to maintain ongoing dialogue. The meetings also touched upon upcoming planned high-level engagements.

ARHNJ staff in a panel discussion about Trump/Pashinyan/Aliyev Meeting In White House

"For the Republic of Armenia, for the present and the future, for you, children," these were the words Armenia's Foreign Minister, Ararat Mirzoyan, shared on Facebook. No better words can describe the historic declaration signed by President Trump, President Aliyev and Prime Minister Pashinyan.

On Sunday, August 10, the staff of the Armenian Radio Hour of New Jersey broadcast a special panel discussion about the attempts to bring about peace between Armenia and Azerbaijan. The various reactions could be summarized by 'positively neutral' and 'cautiously optimistic'.

There are many questions that need to be clarified. Important to note that there was no peace document that was signed, but the snail-paced process is a move in the right direction.

All panelists agree that this will give Armenia some room to breathe but there are lots of obstacles that stand in the way for peace. Russia and Iran do not want to give the United States the upper hand in an area traditionally has been their backyard/ playground. Azerbaijan continues to demand that Armenia amend its constitution. Operational details of the Trump corridor are clear. Pashinyan is facing domestic opposition with only one-third of Armenians believe the country is headed in the right direction.

A lot of hard work remains to be done to achieve a real, sustainable peace. It is understandable why all panelists are 'positively neutral' and 'cautiously optimistic'.

Highlights of the discussion were captured on video by Parev-TV and may be watched here https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=s-w8FR0F7a8&t=65s

US lawyer Robert Amsterdam arrives in Yerevan to represent the Armenian Church

US lawyer and lobbyist Robert Amsterdam has arrived in Yerevan to represent the Armenian Apostolic Church amid what he called a political campaign against the church.

In a statement, Amsterdam's law firm said that 'in recent months, senior church leaders have been subjected to public vilification, legal harassment, and blatant state interference in ecclesiastical affairs'. He also referenced Karapetyan, saying that he has 'been targeted by the Pashinyan government in what leading observers describe as a politically motivated and unlawful campaign'.
